
Public Comment

05/03/2018 8:17 AM.

Sidney Hewgley

“I would like to object to any raises for constitutional officers, judges, prosecutors and lawmakers. These officials knew what their salaries would be when they ran for the position for which they were elected.

Any raises in salary should be posted in the years before the date for filing for a specific position. Therefore a person would know what the salary would be for the duration of the term for which they were elected.

These proposed raises are ridiculous, especially given the salaries of the rank and file.”